

The Basilisk

Polish Fairy Tale

What is it about?

Once upon a time, in Warsaw there was an armourer Jan Ślązak . He had two sons and he really loved them. There was a tenement “Under The Crooked Circle”, the father told them not to go there, but they did it out of their curiosity. When the Basilisk looked at them, he turned them into two stones. The monster became the city’s biggest terror. The father took his mirroring shield and went to the Basilisk’s lodge. When the monster looked at the shield he turned into a stone himself, and his sons became alive again!
